Performing and Production Arts

Getting ready to start your course.

We are looking forward to you starting on your Performing and Production Arts course. Whilst you are studying at home, you might want to do some of these activities to prepare.

- Read about the practitioners Stanislavski, Brecht and Artaud.
- Subscribe to the Stage newspaper.
- Research three jobs in the performing arts industry that you might not have come across before. For example, a dramaturg, a runner or a fight director/choreographer.
- The National Theatre has made many filmed productions free to watch. Plays vary from Shakespeare to One Man, Two Govnors.

- Record a self-tape of you performing a monologue. This can be done on your `phone.
- Research how one of your favourite performers started in their career.
